BROOMFIELD, Colo., August 4, 2016 – Ball Corporation (NYSE: BLL) today reported second quarter 2016 net earnings attributable to the corporation of $369 million, or $2.54 per diluted share (including the net effect of after-tax income of $217 million, or $1.49 per diluted share for business consolidation, debt refinancing and other costs and the estimated gain on the sale of divested assets) on sales of $2.0 billion, compared to $160 million of net earnings attributable to the corporation, or $1.13 per diluted share (including after-tax income of $35 million, or 24 cents per diluted share for debt refinancing costs, economic hedging gains, business consolidation and other costs), on sales of $2.2 billion in the second quarter of 2015. Results for the first six months of 2016 were net earnings attributable to the corporation of $242 million, or $1.67 per diluted share, on sales of $3.8 billion compared to $181 million, or $1.28 per diluted share, on sales of $4.1 billion for the first six months of 2015.

"Our strong second quarter results, the completion of legacy metal packaging growth projects, a robust aerospace backlog and the recent Rexam acquisition provide a very solid foundation for a multi-year, value-compounding growth period for our company and our shareholders," said John A. Hayes, chairman, president and chief executive officer. "One month into the acquisition integration, business-related services and manufacturing operations are running smoothly. The past 17 months of planning have evolved into action, and the synergy execution process is well underway in all value-capture work streams."

Metal Beverage Packaging, Americas & Asia

Metal beverage packaging, Americas and Asia, comparable segment earnings in the second quarter 2016 were $137 million on sales of $1.1 billion, compared to $126 million on sales of $1.1 billion in the second quarter 2015. For the first six months, comparable segment operating earnings were $239 million on sales of $2.0 billion, compared to $252 million on sales of $2.2 billion during the same period in 2015.

In the Americas, second quarter volumes improved with continued strength in specialty can demand in North America and Brazil. Successful cost-out initiatives in China were unable to fully offset the second quarter impact of high single-digit volume declines and lower pricing in the region. Year-to-date Americas and Asia revenues were impacted by the pass through of lower year-over-year aluminum prices and price compression in China.

In June, the company started up the second beverage can line at its Monterrey, Mexico, facility, as well as production at its new facility in Myanmar. These projects represent the remaining legacy capital projects that Ball began prior to the initiation of the company's offer for Rexam.

Metal Beverage Packaging, Europe

Metal beverage packaging, Europe, comparable segment earnings in the second quarter 2016 were $74 million on sales of $479 million, compared to $59 million on sales of $481 million in the second quarter 2015. For the first six months, comparable segment operating earnings were $113 million on sales of $835 million, compared to $88 million on sales of $860 million during the same period in 2015.

Comparable segment earnings were higher in the second quarter and year-to-date due to lower year-over-year aluminum premiums and solid demand for specialty containers.

Food and Aerosol Packaging

Food and aerosol packaging comparable segment earnings in the second quarter 2016 were $33 million on sales of $298 million, compared to $29 million on sales of $332 million in the second quarter 2015. For the first six months, comparable segment operating earnings were $53 million on sales of $583 million, compared to $59 million on sales of $640 million during the same period in 2015.

During the second quarter, strong global demand for aerosol containers outpaced single-digit declines for food cans in North America.

Operational performance across the segment was strong in the quarter and the previously announced actions to reposition steel cutting and coating equipment across Ball's existing U.S. manufacturing locations is on schedule.

Aerospace

Aerospace comparable quarterly segment earnings in the second quarter 2016 were $19 million on sales of $193 million, compared to $20 million on sales of $230 million in the second quarter 2015. For the first six months, comparable segment operating earnings were $37 million on sales of $373 million, compared to $39 million on sales of $445 million during the same period in 2015.

Contracted backlog grew to more than $1 billion at the end of second quarter, with more of the new business awards being oriented to cost-plus contracts. A diverse portfolio of new contracts will leverage Ball's existing technologies and value-added approach to deliver solutions to our customers. The aerospace team is staffing up to further support this backlog and the added labor base will bolster revenue growth in the second half of the year.

Outlook

"While we are still in the midst of our 90-day business review, our early estimate is for full-year 2017 free cash flow to be in the range of $750 million to $850 million, excluding one-time items related to the Rexam acquisition. Though not precluded from repurchasing our shares in the near term, our current plan is to reduce our leverage as quickly as possible, continue our dividend and then return value to shareholders via notable share repurchases as soon as our targeted capital structure is in the range of 3.0 to 3.5 times net debt to comparable EBITDA," said Scott C. Morrison, senior vice president and chief financial officer.

"This acquisition is truly a step change for our company, and we take this responsibility seriously, both operationally and strategically. We have hit the ground running with respect to our synergy realization around the Rexam transaction. The second half of 2016 will be a time to implement many of these efforts, with the benefits beginning to be realized in 2017," Hayes said. "We look forward to the many opportunities that lie ahead to grow EVA, earnings and cash flow. Given the strength of our underlying businesses and the value potential of the Rexam acquisition, we see a path to doubling Ball's long-term goal of 10 to 15 percent comparable diluted earnings per share growth over each of the next three years."

Notes to the Condensed Financial Statements (Second Quarter 2016)

2. Business Consolidation, Debt Refinancing and Other Activities (continued)

- (2) During the second quarter of 2015, the company recorded charges for the write down of property held for sale.
- (3) During the first quarter of 2016, the company announced the closure of the Weirton, West Virginia, plant, a food and household packaging flat sheet production and end-making facility, which will cease production in early 2017. Charges in the first two quarters of 2016 were comprised of employee severance and benefits, facility shutdown costs, and asset impairment and disposal costs.
- (4) The company recorded foreign currency exchange losses from the revaluation of foreign currency denominated restricted cash, intercompany loans related to the cash component of the Rexam acquisition purchase price and the revaluation of the euro-denominated debt issuances in December 2015 (see Note 8 below).
- (5) In connection with the December 2015 issuance of $1 billion of U.S. dollar senior notes due 2020, the company executed cross-currency swaps to convert the fixed-rate U.S. dollar debt issuance to fixed-rate euro debt for the life of the notes to more effectively match the future cash flows of our business. These contracts were not accounted for as hedges, and therefore, changes in the fair value of these contracts are recognized in earnings.
- (6) In March 2016, the company entered into a new $4.1 billion senior secured credit facility which includes a multicurrency revolving facility, a Term A U.S. dollar loan and a Term A euro loan all maturing in 2021. These facilities replaced the company's existing revolving credit facility and the unsecured, committed bridge facilities that were entered into in February 2015. In July 2016 Ball used the net proceeds from the Term A U.S. dollar loan and the Term A euro loan to fund a portion of the cash component of the Rexam acquisition purchase price.
 - During the first two quarters of 2016, the company recorded charges for the write-off of unamortized deferred financing costs associated with the refinancing of the revolving credit facility and the unsecured, committed bridge facility.

- (7) During the first quarter of 2016 and 2015, respectively, the company recorded charges for the amortization of deferred financing costs associated with the £3.3 billion unsecured, committed bridge facility, entered into in February 2015, in connection with the proposed Rexam acquisition purchase price.
- (8) During the first two quarters of 2016, the company recorded interest expense associated with the $1 billion of 4.375 percent senior notes and €400 million of 3.5 percent senior notes, both due in December 2020, and €700 million of 4.375 percent senior notes, due in December 2023. In July 2016 Ball used the net proceeds to fund a portion of the cash component of the purchase price in connection with the acquisition of Rexam.
- (9) In February 2015, the company entered into a new $3 billion revolving credit facility to: 1) replace its existing revolving credit facility, 2) repay its Term C loan, 3) repay the outstanding balance on the existing revolving credit facility, 4) redeem the 2020 and 2021 senior notes and 5) repay the existing private placement debt of Rexam upon closing of the acquisition of Rexam.
 - During the first quarter of 2015, the company recorded charges for the write-off of unamortized deferred financing costs associated with the refinancing of the revolving credit facility and repayment of the Term C loan.
- (10) In connection with the acquisition of Rexam, the company was required to divest certain assets of the combined company, including a portion of Ball's existing metal beverage packaging businesses and certain metal beverage can assets of Rexam (combined, the Divestment Business).
